Subject: MFL (Spanish)

Time to complete: Around 50 minutes

Learning Objective: To practice weather vocabulary in Spanish using a weather chart.

Starter: Hola year 8s! On last week's homework you looked at Spanish phrases that we use to describe the weather. Let's warm up by practicing asking what the weather is like in Spanish. Click on the link below to hear me ask the question, then repeat it after me. Good luck!

1. Click here to listen: ¿Qué tiempo hace hoy? – Now repeat after me.

2. Click here to listen: Hoy hace frío – Now repeat after me.

Task 1: Well done practicing your pronunciation! Now I would like you to look at the crazy weather chart below and answer the questions. Remember to use the word bank in the blue box and the link below to access a dictionary:

<https://www.collinsdictionary.com/dictionary/english-spanish>

Lunes	Martes	Miércoles	Jueves	Viernes	Sábado	Domingo
Mañana 	Mañana 	Mañana 	Mañana 	Mañana 	Mañana 	Mañana
Tarde 	Tarde 	Tarde 	Tarde 	Tarde 	Tarde 	Tarde

- What does 'Mañana' mean?
- What does 'Tarde' mean?
- What is the weather like on Friday morning? (answer in Spanish)
- What is the weather like on Wednesday?
- How many days has it been stormy?
- Is it windy on Saturday afternoon?

El tiempo – The weather

Llueve – It's rainy
Hace sol – It's sunny
Hay viento – It's windy
Hace calor – It's hot
Hay niebla – It's foggy
Hace frío – It's cold
Hay tormenta – It's stormy
Nieva – It's snowy
Está nublado – It's cloudy

Task 2: Well done answering the questions on task 1. Now, looking at the weather chart again, you are going to indicate whether the sentences below are Verdadero (True) or Falso (False). Use the link to your Collins dictionary if you need to translate the sentences. Here is an example:

El lunes por la mañana hace calor = Falso

The sentence says: It's hot on Monday morning. The answer is False because the weather chart shows that on Monday morning is rainy. Now is your turn!

- ✚ El viernes por la tarde hace frío =
- ✚ El domingo por la mañana nieva =
- ✚ El miércoles por la tarde hace sol =
- ✚ El jueves por la mañana hace calor =
- ✚ El martes por la tarde hace viento =

Extension: Great effort on task 2. If you still have time left, try changing the sentences above so they are correct when you look at the weather chart!
